Spanish is Fun

Spanish is the language to learn in the 21st century, so why not get a head start? Studies show that a child's abilities to acquire foreign languages are at their peak in the preschool and early elementary years. In these introductory lessons, the "Total Physical Response" method for teaching Spanish is employed, which is based on activities, movement, fun, games, and music as part of the learning. Involving the senses makes language study meaningful. Learn about various Hispanic cultures and countries and the usefulness of Spanish!
